

Top Network Marketing Consultant is Living Her Dream Life and You Can Too!

Meet Sarah Robbins, Network Marketing Speaker

I am a teacher by trade. While I loved teaching kindergarten and first grade, I was facing the loss of my job due to a struggling economy. Also affected by the local economy was my husband's landscape construction business. We decided to pursue extra income.

I began freelancing part-time for a skincare company alongside my teaching career. Soon, the company decided they wanted to bring their product to the masses and leverage today's social economy. They chose a social selling model and decided to continue building their brand through network marketing.

To be honest, I was very skeptical at first. How could a formerly shy teacher in her 20's, living in a depressed economy find success and prosperity in network marketing? I started my business like most people—part-time, with no previous business experience. I began sharing and people began to join me.

To my surprise, I surpassed my teacher's salary by the end of that school year, and was able to retire from teaching. By the age of 29, I was earning a six-figure monthly income!

I've retired my husband from his construction business (35 years early!) to work together, coaching others to live the life of their dreams.

As a seven-figure annual residual income earner, I am now in the top one percent income-bracket of all women in America and one of the world's leading network marketing consultants and experts on prosperity and leadership.

The best part? My husband and I are now fulfilling our lifelong passion of helping others. We now are able to give more than we used to make—combined. He has dreams of starting a camp for children. I have a heart to help women and children in need. Not only does this success and prosperity change our life, it also impacts those we have been able to bless with our time, talent, and resources.

Our lives have been transformed in so many ways. What's even more amazing is seeing the lives that have been transformed by our incredible success and prosperity. I had great impact as a teacher. Today I am able to influence thousands of lives and teach people how to build the lives of their dreams. We are living proof that anyone can live the American dream.
